

General Data Protection Regulation 2016 (GDPR) Subject Access Request Form – Guidance Notes

Howden Medical Group Practice

Only the following people may apply for access to personal information.

- The person who the information is about.
- Someone acting on behalf of the person who the information is about.

You have a right to know whether or not we have any information about you, and a right to have a copy of that information. You have a right to know the following.

- What kind of information we keep about you.
- The reason we are keeping it and how we use it.
- Who gave us your information
- Who we might share your information with and who might see your information.

You also have the right to have any codes or jargon in the information explained.

You won't be able to see information that could:

- cause serious harm to your physical or mental health, or anyone else's

Fee

Data will be provided free of charge. There may be a charge of a 'reasonable fee' when a request is manifestly unfounded or excessive, particularly if it is repetitive.

A reasonable fee may occur when complying with requests for further copies of the same information. This does not mean that there will be a charge for all subsequent access requests.

The fee must be based on the administrative cost of providing the information.

Response time

We will deal with your request as quickly as possible and within 30 days of receiving your request. If we have any problems getting your information we will keep you up to date on our progress.

How long records are kept

The usual rules to do with keeping records are that:

- adult general hospital records are kept for six years after the date of the last entry;
- maternity records are kept for 25 years after the birth of the last child;
- children's and young people's records are kept until the child's or young person's 25th birthday; and
- Mental-health records are kept for 20 years after the date of the last contact.
- GP Practice records are kept within the Practice for the duration that a patient is registered with the Practice.

This may help you in considering what types of records you are applying to see.

Points to consider

Making false or misleading statements to access personal information which you are not entitled to is a criminal offence.

Accessing health records and information is an important matter. Releasing information may in certain circumstances cause distress. You may want to speak to an appropriate health professional before filling in the form.

We ask for proof of ID or a countersignature (see section 7) because we have confidential information and we must get proof of your identity and your right to receive any relevant information.

Notes to help you fill in the form

Personal information

Personal information is information we hold about people in medical records, patient administration and information systems, clinical systems, and other databases or files. We may hold personal information on paper or on computer.

Health professionals

An appropriate health professional may include your doctor, nurse, midwife or health visitor, dentist, optician, pharmacist, clinical psychologist, occupational therapist, dietician, physiotherapist, podiatrist or speech and language therapist.

Section 1: Personal details

This is the person to whom the data relates. Please ensure that this section is completed as fully and accurately as possible to enable us to trace all the required information.

Section 2: Information you want to access

The General Data Protection Regulation covers both manual (paper) and computerised records. Manual records include all your paper health records. Some information about your care may also be held on computer.

If you wish to view the original record you will be invited to attend the Practice at a convenient time, along with a health professional or appropriate other person. If you wish to receive photocopies these will be produced within 30 days.

If you have only asked for a copy of the relevant records, the healthcare professional responsible for your care may invite you to see them so that they can explain the information in your record. You do not have to take up this invitation, but it may be in your best interests to do so.

Section 3: Who is Applying for Access to the Information

The person making the application must complete this section.

- If you are the patient (see section 1 above) – sign then proceed to Section 7
- If you are acting on behalf of others (see section 5 below) the organisation will require the patients authorisation before data can be released. The 'Permission' section of the form must be signed by the patient (section 6) The exception is if you have proof

- If the patient is a child i.e. under 16 years of age the application may be made by someone with parental responsibilities; in most cases this means a parent or guardian. If the child is capable of understanding the nature of the application his/her consent should be obtained or alternatively the child may submit an application on his/her own behalf. Generally children will be presumed to understand the nature of the application if aged between 12 and 16. However, all cases will be considered individually.

Section 4: Details of the Person Acting on behalf of others

The applicant is the person who is applying on behalf of the patient to get access to the records.
